

Salisa Norstog

Married with one child, a son who has recently graduated from U of Arizona.

Have been living in Arizona since 1984.

Have been working with the Navajo Nation – Department of Transportation since 1993 and is currently working as a Principle Planner.

Have been working on transportation planning since 1994.

Was a visiting professor at the Arizona State University in 1990-1991. Taught landscape architecture, construction, design and planning studios, and thesis preparation.

Graduated with a Master's in Landscape Architecture from the University of Pennsylvania.

Had a Bachelor's in Architecture from Thailand.

Developed two long range transportation plans for the Navajo Nation. Current planning work includes working with other five planners on the yearly update of the Navajo Nation Tribal Transportation Improvement Plan and motor vehicle crash collection.

Enjoy learning and using GIS in motor vehicle crash mapping and transportation planning.